Demos Give Ike Chance To Draft Pentagon Plan

Agree to Hold Fire 60 Days

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Democratic congressional leaders are reported to have agreed to hold their fire for 60 days to give President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy a chance to come up with a defense reorganization plan.

The informal agreement apparently means there is likely to be no concerted Democratic effort to increase in the Senate Eisenhower's request for $1,260,000,000 in emergency defense funds to meet the challenge of Russian missile and satellite advances. Increases may be sought later when the regular defense budget is considered.

As it passed the House last Thursday the emergency appropriation measure included $1,260,000,000 in new cash and authority for the Defense Department to transfer 150 million of available nonmilitary funds to the missile programs.

Demos Have Complicated

While the agreement is not binding on individual Democrats who want to suggest specific changes in the Pentagon setup, the general understanding is that Eisenhower and McElroy will get a reasonable length of time to work out a reorganization plan without serious interference from Congress.

Previously, many Democrats had complained Eisenhower seemed to lack a sense of urgency about making changes that would speed up the defense program.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said any such notion should be dispelled by Eisenhower's trip to the Pentagon yesterday to confer with McElroy and other officials about reorganization moves.

Ike Seen Acting Quickly
Bridges said he expects the President to come up with a plan quickly.

"A great deal can be done toward reorganization of the Pentagon under existing statutes," Bridges said. "However, any fundamental changes in the present defense system should and must be submitted to Congress."

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview he hopes Eisenhower will eliminate what Mansfield called the "corporation" system of Pentagon operations, with 33 assistant secretaries and their assistants.

Smith To Offer Education Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said today he will introduce on Tuesday legislation to carry out the education program of President Eisenhower.

The President is to submit to Congress tomorrow a special message outlining proposals to give federal scholarships to bright students and federal aid to states for strengthening instruction in science and mathematics.

Smith, ranking Republican on the Senate committee handling education bills, expressed hope the administration program, which would run four years and cost a billion dollars, will receive "strong bipartisan support."

Some Democrats who have commented on the Eisenhower proposals have said they do not go far enough. Some have complained that Eisenhower this year is not recommending a program for federal aid to classroom construction—a measure which he backed in the past two sessions but which died in the House each year.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) announced today he will introduce this week a bill calling for 1½ billion dollars in federal grants to the states for school construction over a five-year period.

In a statement, Kennedy criticized Eisenhower for failing to urge a school construction program this year.

Navy Forced To Delay Test Of Vanguard

Mechanical Faults, Weather Thwart Launching Attempt

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP)—The Navy tonight called off for a few days at least another attempt to launch its Vanguard satellite vehicle.

It acted after a frustrating period of weather and mechanical difficulties extending over much of the past week.

Another launching may be attempted within a few days. However, the Navy may be unable to maintain the launching schedule which calls for a major effort in March unless its luck improves.

An informed source said launching preparations were suspended "to allow time for correction of mechanical faults which have developed over the weekend."

These preparations were known several times to have almost reached the firing stage.

Sputnik II Overhead

It was learned that a launching was only minutes away Saturday evening at the time that Russia's Sputnik II came sailing over this part of Florida.

Persons on the beaches, watching the activity that could be seen at the closely guarded cape, plainly observed the Soviet satellite in two sweeps across the heavens, an hour and a half apart.

"That dead dog up there must be thumping his nose at our Vanguard," one person remarked.

The close approach to a first full-scale launching of the three-stage rocket with a 3½-pound satellite in its nose left Vanguard workers and newsmen under considerable tension.

Publicity Tension

This was less true than the ill-fated Dec. 6 launching attempt, however, because the Navy had kept its plans a tight secret and the public generally did not become aware of the efforts under way.

By contrast last month the launching date was announced in advance. The delays that developed at that time were made public in considerable detail and the result was a fantastic buildup of publicity around the world.

That Vanguard rocket rose only a few feet and then toppled in flames.

Knowland Sees Labor Reforms

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he believes Congress will "face up" to the enactment this year of labor reform legislation. Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.) took a dimmer view of the outlook.

President Eisenhower submitted to Congress last week a broad program for dealing with "corruption, racketeering and abuse of trust and power in the labor-management field."

A special Senate committee, making a continuing investigation in this field, will resume hearings tomorrow on the Operating Engineers Union with testimony about a local in Philadelphia.

The legislation Eisenhower proposed, growing out of the disclosures before the Senate committee, included requirements for election of union officials by secret ballot and for detailed financial reporting by unions.

Other bills also have been introduced, including measures by Knowland, the Senate GOP leader, and Ives, vice chairman of the special investigating committee.

Boys' Rocket Soars Two Miles High

Three youthful Houston, Tex., rocketeers put their rocket in a launcher before firing it two miles high. The rocket, built at a cost of $10, reached a speed of 700 miles an hour. Left to right are Denis Ashton, Bob Farmer and Allan Parker, all 16 years of age. (AP Photofax)

U.S. Accused Of 'Zeta' Credit Grab By Britons

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—A national newspaper here accused Americans today of attempting to steal the thunder from British scientists in the creation of Zeta—the machine carrying hopes of taming the H-bomb for industry.

This was the only sour note in the unveiling here of the apparatus used in taking a step toward control of thermonuclear fusion as the pride of Britons rose to a height unexceeded since the days of World War II.

Zeta—zero energy thermonuclear apparatus—came as a shot in the arm to a people sensitive to recent criticism from abroad—and even heard at home—that Britain was lapsing into a second-rate power.

Some British commentators said the way the official announcement of Zeta was handled reflected an inferiority complex growing among Americans since the launching of the Soviet Sputniks.

The Conservative Sunday Dispatch bannered a front-page headline over a story from the newspaper's American correspondent.

"Britain Loses Zeta 'War': The U.S. Grabs Credit For Herself," The Socialist Reynolds News diplomatic correspondent commented. "No wonder the Americans held up publication of Britain's Zeta achievement for many months. It has put us in the lead in a field far more important to the world than Sputniks."

Zeta was announced simultaneously in Washington and London last Friday. There had been whisperings from Harwell, Britain's atomic research station, of the existence of Zeta, but Americans were said to have insisted on keeping the news secret for months, until it could be disclosed jointly.

Christopher Lucas, the New York correspondent of the Sunday Dispatch, cabled that the Zeta story "hit the American headlines Saturday as an American-inspired invention."

"This means," wrote Lucas, "that American Lewis Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, has succeeded in his campaign to grab all the credit for this British scientific triumph."

CBS To Donate Time For Truman Speech

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Former President Truman's speech here Feb. 22 inaugurating the Democratic congressional elections campaign will be carried as a public service program over the CBS TV-radio networks from 10:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. EST.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler made this announcement today and said Truman will deliver "a significant and important message" to the annual $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

Asked how the Truman speech could be carried free by the Columbia Broadcasting Co. in view of its political nature, Butler said the Democratic Committee was invited to use the CBS facilities the night Truman speaks and he assumed CBS would invite the Republicans at some other time to use the networks "on the same basis."

Arthur Eisenhower, Ike's Older Brother, Dies In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—During his banking career he gained a national reputation in flour and grain finances.

He formerly was a director of Trans World Airlines and the Coleman Co. of Wichita, a number of other corporations.

Eisenhower joined the Commerce Trust Co. 53 years ago and in 1934 became its executive vice president and a director.

In Washington the presidential press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said President Eisenhower had been informed by the family of Arthur's death.

Hagerty said there would be no word from the White House tonight on whether the President would attend the funeral, nor would there be any statement from the President.

Arthur and his first wife, Alida, were married in 1906 and divorced in 1924. In 1925 Arthur remarried. Mrs. Louise Eisenhower survives.

Arthur is survived also by four brothers. Besides the President, they are Edgar, of Tacoma, Wash.; Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University; and Earl, a publisher at LaGrange, Ill.

Three Children Perish In Blaze

NORTHWOOD, Iowa, Jan. 26 (AP)—Three children of a family of 11 died today when trapped by fire which burned their two-story farm home to the ground.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Abrahams, and four other children escaped the inferno. Two other children were not at home.

The dead are Roger, 4, and two sisters, Barbara Eileen, 8, and Sharon Kay, 13.

Abrahams, 47, and his daughters, Mary, 16, and Shirley, 15, were brought to a Mason City hospital, 19 miles south of here. Mrs. Abrahams was treated at the hospital and released.

The father suffered arm lacerations when he broke a second-floor bedroom window in an attempt to rescue the four girls sleeping there.

Peron To Quit Venezuela "As Soon As Possible"

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 26 (AP)—Juan D. Peron said tonight he will leave Venezuela "as soon as possible."

The exiled Argentine ex-dictator faced a public clamor for him to get out in a hurry.

In refuge at the Dominican Republic embassy, he reported he probably will go to the Dominican Republic.

President Marcos Perez Jimenez fled to that island nation after a civil-military revolt felled his regime last week.

The pressure for Peron's speedy exit increased with the publication in Caracas newspapers today of reports purportedly showing Peron advised Perez Jimenez on how to crush a revolt.

Venezuela's ruling junta has said it would respect the principle of asylum if Peron wanted to stay. At the same time it hinted strongly it would be better if he left the country.

Jap Ferry, 170 Aboard, Lost At Sea

TOKYO, Monday, Jan. 27 (AP)—Rescue ships pressed a search in rough weather today for 192 persons feared victims of two sea tragedies.

A 496-ton Japanese ferryboat with 170 persons aboard, disappeared in the stormy Inland Sea yesterday after radioing the single word "danger."

The Maritime Safety Board in Kobe announced one of 19 rescue vessels had found a life buoy and a white-painted toolbox believed belonging to the missing ferryboat, the Nankai Maru, and said it is almost certain the boat sank in the area south of Numashima Island.

The No. 3 Shofuku Maru, with 27 crewmen aboard, ran aground and capsized last night about three miles off Kushimoto, 100 miles south of Osaka, southern Japan.

Five persons swam ashore and were rescued. Still sought were the 22 others aboard.

There were 141 passengers, including 10 children, and 29 crewmen aboard the ferryboat. It left Komatsujima on Shikoku Island, about 5:30 p.m. Sunday for Wakayama, a 50-mile trip. The ferryboat belongs to the Nankai Steamship Co.

Mothers Leave China, Hope For Sons' Release

HONG KONG, Jan. 26 (AP)—Tired and a bit nervous, three American mothers came out of Red China today with some hope for the release of their sons from Communist prisons.

"Hope springs eternal always," said Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y. Her son Hugh, 38, is serving a life sentence. She spoke at a news conference in Hong Kong's Carleton Hotel.

Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., stood at her side. They entered Red China 20 days ago after the U. S. government made a special concession in their case. U. S. citizens are forbidden by their government to travel in Red China.

They were unwilling to discuss the possibilities of the son's release. But they recalled a Chinese assertion that leniency may one day apply in their sons' cases.

"I am very happy to have had the opportunity of going to China to see my son," said Mrs. Redmond. "He was in very good condition, well-dressed, clean and well-fed. He was taken care of."

"The only thing he asked for was more books. I have the highest regard for the Chinese Red Cross who took care of me so well."

Reporters asked if she expected Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to pardon her son.

"I don't think so," she replied. Mrs. Fecteau, whose son Richard, 30, is serving a 20-year term, said the sons were happy but "not surprised to see us. They had been informed by the Chinese authorities."

Mrs. Downey, whose son John, 27, is also serving a life term, said she was happy to have made the trip.

"I am extremely grateful to the Chinese Red Cross. I saw my son three times a week for two hours each time and I dined with him at our last meeting."

Blasts Rock City On Eve Of Pact Talks

American Buildings Damaged Soon After Arrival Of Dulles

ANKARA, Monday, July 27 (AP)—A bomb blasted out the rear wall of a warehouse in the U.S. Embassy compound here early today and another shattered a private bookshop, called the American Publication Stores, near the U.S. Information Center.

The explosions, apparently aimed at American prestige as well as property, came 11 hours before the opening of a four-day Baghdad Pact conference in which Secretary of State Dulles will sit with leaders of that Middle East defense alliance.

No one was injured by the blasts.

Dulles was away from the embassy when the explosions came, about 12:20 a.m. An embassy spokesman said it was assumed the bombs were thrown from passing cars in both cases.

Premier Adnan Menderes, President Celal Bayar and Interior Minister Namik Gedik sped to the embassy and assured U.S. Ambassador Fletcher Warren a full investigation will be made.

The warehouse target sits 100 yards from the embassy building. The embassy spokesman said that, despite wreckage of the wall, damage was slight.

The American Publications Stores bookshop likewise is about 100 yards from the U.S. Information Service building. It was damaged severely. Windows of adjoining buildings were shattered.

The United States is not a member of the Baghdad Pact, but is a member of three of its major committees. The pact is made up of Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan.

Dulles Has Key Role In Four-Day Parley

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 26 (AP)—John Foster Dulles flew into this frontier land alongside Soviet Russia today for a conference of the five-nation Baghdad Pact Alliance.

The American secretary of state has a key role in the four-day talks beginning tomorrow, even though he is attending the meeting of premiers and foreign ministers only in the capacity of observer. The United States is a member of several of the alliance's committees, but was not a signer of the pact itself.

Dulles' first appearance in the top Ministerial Council of the two-year-old alliance comes at a time when Soviet incursions have made the Middle East a major battlefield of the East-West cold war. Soviet offers of military and economic aid, which already have tempted several neutralist Arab lands, appear to be having a side effect of spurring Moslem members of the Baghdad Pact to seek spectacular parallel commitments from the West.

The Baghdad Pact, which Dulles conceived originally girdles the southern rim of the Soviet Union and comprises Britain, Turkey, Iraq and Pakistan.

Dulles flew to Turkey from Tehran where talks during a 40-hour stopover had been designed to allay Iran's fears it is not getting sufficient help from its western friends.

A blizzard prevented Dulles' four-engined military plane from landing here this morning and the U.S. party flew to Istanbul. The party remained five hours until weather conditions cleared this afternoon and then came to Ankara.

Snow And Rain Pelt Most Of Country

(By The Associated Press)

Snow and rain pelted a miserable weather picture the length and breadth of the nation Sunday.

A four-day-old storm poured more snow and rain on large areas of New York and the New England states. The Pacific Coast had a third straight day of soaking rains. New snow fell over a broad section of the northern Midwest. And a new rain pattern spread through the Southeast.

Gale warnings were posted along the northeastern coast as rain, sleet and snow pelted that section. Binghamton and Buffalo, N.Y., got several inches of snow overnight, and Binghamton's accumulation was 12 inches in all. Boston got 1.7 inches of moisture in 24 hours, Portland, Maine 1.65.

The heavy rains in Massachusetts swelled the Charles and Neponset rivers out of their banks and the Weather Bureau said some property damage along the streams was likely.

Leader Of N.C. Klan Says Mammoth Rally Planned

MARION, S. C., Jan. 26 (AP)—The leader of the North Carolina Ku Klux Klan said today the KKK will hold another rally soon in Robeson County, N. C., and "this time there will be more Klansmen than Indians."

"The over-all picture will be a lot different," said the Rev. James Cole, South Carolina preacher who bills himself as the chief of the KKK in North Carolina.

"We don't expect to be broken up again," he said at his home here. "This time there will be more Klansmen than there will be Indians. I don't expect any trouble from the Indians."

The Klan's last meeting in Robeson County, near Maxton, on Jan. 17 was broken up by gunfire from angry Lumbie Indians. The Klansmen, outnumbered by hundreds of tribesmen, scattered like quail as whooping Indians fired hundreds of rounds of ammunition into the air and the ground.

At the Indian community of Pembroke near Maxton, Simeon Oxendine—son of Pembroke's Indian mayor, and leader of the Indian raid on the Klan—listened in silence to a report on Cole's statements.

McKeldin Asks Hikes In Sales, Income Taxes

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin, in an unprecedented mail delivery of his budget message to members of the Legislature, tonight proposed increases in the state sales and income taxes to balance Maryland's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

He said the raises would be necessary to make ends meet on his proposed spending program totaling $386,052,468—a record-breaker like all other postwar budgets.

Of this amount, $183,456,475 is composed of general funds—those which are raised by general taxes and are used for overall State government.

Another $143,524,447 represents special funds—revenues from such specifics as gasoline and automobile registration taxes, which are committed by law to highway expenses and similar special outlays. The rest—$59,071,494—is federal aid money, also committed beforehand to particular programs.

Traditionally scheduled for presentation on the opening day of the Legislature during its 30-day session, the budget message was mailed to members of the General Assembly last Friday night—12 days before the Feb. 5 convening of the lawmakers in Annapolis.

The Republican governor's advance delivery of the message came after demands by leaders of the Democratic majority for an earlier-than-usual peek at the figures. Senate President Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) had expressed resentment that the Administration had made speeches disclosing his plans to propose the sale and income tax boosts without letting the lawmakers know.

Goldstein had tried to get revenue estimates and other figures from Budget Director James G. Rennie, who refused to yield them to anyone but the governor.

A spokesman for McKeldin said the governor readily agreed to give the legislators a preview of the budget as soon as Goldstein made the request directly to the governor.

In the message itself, McKeldin said his spending proposals came out $38,333,341 shy of expected general fund income.

He asked that about $26,200,000 of this be made up with a 1 per cent increase in taxes paid by individuals on their ordinary income and investment profits of $500 or less. This would make the new rate 3 per cent effective on 1958 income. The tax on investment income of more than $500 would remain at 5 per cent.

War Hero Killed Defending Trust

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—A World War II veteran who received the Silver Star for heroism died last night defending a downtown office building against burglars.

A day janitor who came to relieve him found the slashed body of Fred Schubert, 48, a night watchman in the Manhattan Building at 431 S. Dearborn St.

Police Lt. James McMahon said a knife wound on the side of Schubert's head probably caused death. There was also a severe wound on the back of his head and knife slashes on his hands and chin.

Quaker To Sail Boat Into Atom Bomb Test Area

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Connecticut architect said today he will fly to Los Angeles tomorrow to prepare a 30-foot ketch to sail into the Pacific Ocean nuclear bomb test area. He said he'll remain there "come what may."

Albert Bigelow, 51, of Cos Cob, Conn., said the purpose of the trip is to encourage the United States to halt nuclear bomb tests.

Bigelow, a Quaker, represents a pacifist group, some of whom entered the Nevada proving grounds during an A-bomb test last August. They were arrested for trespassing but received suspended sentences.

Bigelow said the ketch would sail Feb. 10. He will be accompanied on the voyage by William R. Huntington, 50, of St. James, N.Y., and two other persons yet to be chosen, he said. Bigelow and Huntington are architects.

"Instead of competing in horror with the Soviets, let us challenge them to a crash program of health," Bigelow said at a news conference here.

Mechanical Sidewalk Strips Dallas Woman Of Skirt, Petticoat

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 26 (AP)—A little boy was hurt and his mother stripped of her skirt and petticoat last night, police said, when their clothing became entangled in a mechanical moving sidewalk at Love Field's new air terminal here.

Patrolman R. J. Shackelford said Mrs. R. E. Womack, 38, of Dallas, was sightseeing with her son, Robert Lee Womack, 7.

He said the youngster fell near the end of the "ride" aboard the escalator—like sidewalk, which hauls pedestrians from the terminal lobby to plane ramps. The sidewalk grabbed his T-shirt and dragged him to the end of the walk and skinned the fingers of his right hand.

His mother knelt to help him, and the sidewalk pulled off her skirt and petticoat. Shackelford said. Someone turned off the sidewalk's power and the mother—in a knee-length leather coat—took the frightened boy to a terminal office.

Rites Tomorrow For Rail Tycoon Who Killed Self

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP)—The body of railroad tycoon Robert R. Young was put aboard his private car today for a journey to Rhode Island where he will be buried Tuesday.

Young, 60, board chairman of the New York Central Railroad, shot himself in the top floor billiard room of his 25-room mansion at Palm Beach yesterday.

Bright sunshine bathed the almost deserted station as the casket was moved into the observation end of the gleaming silver car, known by railroad men everywhere as "No. 28."

A few stragglers were at the railroad station and several directors of the New York Central, who had attended a board meeting with Young a few days ago, stood some distance away, waiting to board the same train to New York.

Mrs. Young, the former Anita Ten Eyck O'Keeffe, arrived more than an hour later, accompanied by her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wrightsman and Mrs. Edward McLean and Mrs. Florence McCormick, who had been Young's secretary.

Young's body was found about noon by Tage Mattson, his valet, and Mattson's wife, Gretta, and the chauffeur, George Gillis. Police said he used a double-barreled 20 gauge shotgun to kill himself. No notes were found. Lt. Fred Mead of the Palm Beach police said it "definitely was suicide."

A native of Canadian, Tex., Young weighed only 135 pounds and was often called "the smallest Texan in the world."

But he was a giant of railroad-ing. He formerly was president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad and in 1954 won a battle to gain control of the New York Central. Only a few days ago he presided at a board meeting at which it was decided not to declare a dividend now.

Venezuela Junta Meets; Tension Rises

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 26 (AP)—Venezuela's ruling junta met suddenly in an extraordinary session tonight. A new wave of tension swept through this capital city.

Fears were aroused that supporters of ousted Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez might be on the verge of attempting a counter coup.

Armored cars took up patrol. All persons, even those with safe conduct passes, were warned to stay off the streets during curfew. There were no immediate details on the reason for the junta session or the basis for the rumors of a possible counter move by Perez Jimenez followers.

A once powerful leftist political leader returned earlier today from exile and declared he was proclaiming a truce among the nation's political parties.

Jovito Villalba, one-time chief of the Union Republicana Democratica party, came back to Caracas from New York. He fled Venezuela after the 1952 presidential election. Villalba claimed victory in that election but Perez Jimenez seized control.

Villalba said Venezuela must now build a strong, expanding economy "so we don't have to depend only on petroleum or arms the United States might give us."

He said he had been in contact with other exiled political leaders and added:

"In their names and mine I proclaim truce among political parties. We will not break unity. We will support all progressive democratic expressions of the new junta."

Listen to voices every time you meet new acquaintances or old friends.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

First Impression

A woman was astonished recently at the first compliment a new acquaintance gave her. He told her how much he liked her voice and described it as soft and pleasing. He contrasted it with those which were irritating to him—the harsh and shrill voices and the ones which never seemed to stop.

Too often, people don't realize that the voice is one of the most important factors in that first impression. Unfortunately, the first impression may be the lasting impression. A very attractive woman in every other respect may fail to interest the person she would like most to impress only because her voice is unpleasant to him. He suspects that the voice is indicative of her education and breeding, as well as of her emotional stability.

Listen carefully to the voices you hear each day. You must become aware of them in order to determine whether yours is harsh, loud, shrill, monotonous, or perhaps lacks clarity or smoothness. You might then desire to take a few voice lessons to learn breath control, placement, and pitch. However, without such training, it's possible to change the volume and speed. Does your voice blast? Is it difficult for your friends to hear you? Does it make one breathless trying to keep up with what you're saying, or does your slow drawl make one lose interest?

Do you express most emotions with the same monotonous tone, or is your voice flexible and varying in pitch without becoming too loud or almost inaudible? The more color and melodious tones you can acquire in your voice, the more interested people will be in listening to you.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (INS)—There was a very good reason why Rosalind Russell remained an extra day in New York to see William Inge's "The Dark At The Top Of The Stairs."

Jack Warner asked her to see this Broadway hit because when Warner Bros. gets ready to put it on the screen, he would like to have Roz for the top role. It was in Inge's play "Picnic" that she scored a terrific hit.

Roz gets here tomorrow and after a rest reports to Warners for "Auntie Mame." Freddie Brisson, who went to Europe to see his mother and father, also to attend to some business, returns the middle of next month.

More power to Harry Cohn, an optimistic producer who has faith in our industry. He has just spent a hunk of cash for two properties which Columbia will bring to the screen this year.

The first is "The Mountain Road," a novel by Theodore White, which is the Book of the Month Club selection for May. It's a story a little on the order of "Bridge On The River Kwai" and agent Irving Lazar made the deal. Harry would like Cary Grant for the top role in "Mountain Road" which will be shot partly in Formosa.

The second purchase, "The Beach Boys," by Halevy and Raymond Marcus, will be made in Acapulco.

Certainly no one is better qualified to play Otto Frank, father of Anne, in "The Diary Of Anne Frank" than Joseph Schildkraut, who created the role on the New York stage, and will now play it in the motion picture. Joe made his screen debut in "Orphans Of The Storm" with the Gish girls.

When Joe arrives here in March, he will have completed his thousandth performance in "Anne Frank."

Buddy Adler and Director George Stevens have lined up a good cast with Milly Perkins.

16-year-old model playing Anne, and Shelly Winters the young boy's mother.

Too often the nice little stories about Hollywood get lost in the glare of more sensational happenings, so I just want to say that all of the Olympic decathlon honors won by Bob Mathias couldn't make me like him more than hearing this:

Bob made it a banner day today in the life of 11-year-old Richard Skelton when, hearing that Red's son hasn't been feeling well lately, he went to the Skelton home, had lunch with the boy and spent the afternoon with him.

Mathias deserves the star treatment he's now getting from Batjac. He gets the top role in "Prison Wagon" with Anita Ekberg as his co-star, and that ain't bad.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:
The Anne Francis-Buddy Bregman idyll is no longer that. Buddy's big moment now is Gia Scala. They were at the Avante Garde to hear Ruth Olay.

Nancy Sinatra went to the Bob Mitchums' party with Hugh O'Brian, her last date with him before entering Cedars of Lebanon Hospital to part with her tonsils.

There's a baby in the home of Marilyn Erskine and her husband, Charles Curland. They adopted a boy a week after he was born.

Chico Marx was bitten more than twenty times by his pet Schnauzer dog, Nosey, who went berserk when he was struck by a car.

Lillian Schary Small, well known agent, is in Cedars with a broken leg—tripped over a phone cord in her office.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Case Involving Radio Continued

A case involving the theft of a radio here January 1 was continued Friday by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick to allow testimony by another witness.

Testifying at the hearing were Howard M. Iser, 36, of 332 Virginia Avenue, and Gerald W. Voneschen, 23, of 16 Laing Avenue, both of whom pleaded not guilty; Mrs. Shirley Burkett, 17 Fifth Street, owner of the $40 radio and City Detective E. Gordon Hite.

The magistrate told Assistant

State's Attorney James S. Getty he wanted to talk to a man identified as Wayne Grant, as no conclusive evidence had been presented.

ond row, same order, are A. Delbert Michael, junior deacon; Kenneth R. Malcolm, marshal; J. Irvin Martin, secretary; John W. Ayers, junior steward, and Leonard Keyes, tyler. Cecil G. Dye, senior steward, was not present when the picture was taken. Most area Masonic lodges have been installing officers during January.

McCooles PTA Plans Carnival

McCooles — The McCooles Parent-Teachers' Association will hold a winter carnival on Friday.

An old time spelling bee will be a highlight of the program which will include games and contests.

During a recent meeting, plans were made for the carnival. In voting for the PTA attendance banner this month all fathers were counted double. Frances O'Rourke's sixth grade won the banner.

The program committee presented a film on "Social Development" in connection with the child study group that meets on Monday night at the school. The last meeting of this group will be today at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Ruby Adams, Rawlings, is the leader of the group. All parents are urged to attend.

Mrs. Winnie Herbert and her homeroom mothers served refreshments in the cafeteria following the meeting.

Hill Street PTA Will Meet Tonight

FROSTBURG — The Hill Street PTA will present a Founders' Day program in the school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman, president.

All past presidents of the association have been invited to attend.

A silver collection will be taken as a Founders' Day gift to the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Refreshments will be served by the executive committee.

Frostburg Lions Hear Discussion About Hunting

Minke Addresses Service Group

FROSTBURG — The Lions Club held its bi-monthly dinner meeting a recent evening at Happy Hills Farm Restaurant, Route 40.

President Edward Flanagan announced that Vice President Russell Keister will be in charge of tickets for the annual zone dinner and dance to be held Saturday, February 8, at the Shrine Country Club and that tickets are now available.

Lion George Walters, a member of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission, was in charge of the program introducing Joseph Minke, regional game warden for the Western Maryland District. Mr. Minke reported about various projects that are now underway to improve hunting and fishing for sportsmen and of the additional recreation areas that are being provided in this area. The members of the large number of area sportsmen organizations, 16 clubs in Allegany County and five in Garrett County, were praised for their interest and work in improving wildlife conditions.

To maintain and improve hunting conditions, 14 buck deer which were trapped on the vast Aberdeen Proving Grounds, have recently been released in the Garrett County mountains. As part of the five-year program to improve fishing in Deep Creek Lake the commission is continuing to stock striped bass. This fish is a prolific spawner and should provide excellent sport for local anglers.

The new state park at Deep Creek, located between Cherry Creek and Meadow Mountain, will be open to the public this year. This recreation area will provide a beach, picnic area and fishing facilities.

In reviewing his long service with the Game and Fish Commission, Mr. Minke spoke of the numerous letters he receives from residents of Baltimore and the eastern counties which express their appreciation that the state provides such wonderful hunting, fishing and recreation areas in Western Maryland.

In mentioning some of the humorous incidents in which he has been involved he elaborated on the now famous goat incident which occurred on Green Ridge Mountain during the past hunting season. The story was carried nationally in newspapers and magazines and concerned the downstate hunter, who with some encouragement from better informed friends, tried to check a live goat as a deer.

Upon concluding his interesting talk, Mr. Minke presented a twenty minute film which was produced by the Game and Fish Commission. The film titled "Maryland Wonderland" showed many of the scenic highlights of Western Maryland.

Beginning Wednesday, February 19, Lenten services will be held on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p. m. and guest preachers will be at these services.

Moorefield Seeks Storm Sewer Work

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Mayor P. W. Clarke and the Town Council have requested the State Road Commission to complete the storm sewer on Winchester Avenue as a step in Moorefield's proposed new sewage system and disposal plant.

Mr. Clarke pointed out that two years ago Winchester Avenue was not paved to the curbs because a storm sewer was to be laid. Surface water from the Town Hill area drains down Winchester Avenue and becomes a veritable flood during heavy rains.

At the time the State Road Commission recapped Winchester Avenue chips but no paving were laid to the curbs in anticipation of the storm sewer construction.

Birth Announced

BARTON — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, 1510 Ridge Avenue, Coraopolis, Pa., have announced the birth of a son. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Florence Emerick of National. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Andrews of Barton.

PSC Alumni Contribute Scholarships

KEYSER — Responses to the solicitation for contributions to the Potomac State Alumni Association Scholarship Fund are beginning to arrive at the office of John Raschella, financial secretary of the college and permanent treasurer for the fund.

The honor of being the first alumnus to contribute appropriately enough, to a member of the first class of 1902, G. A. (Hackett) Carskadon, who lives at 564 S. Main Street, Keyser.

A native of Keyser, Mr. Carskadon has lived here all his life, working first with his father in the old general store and grocery establishment so well known to Keyser residents. Later he was with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad after his father retired. Now retired himself, he spends about half of each month working at the City Scales.

Mrs. William Paul Moore, the former Joan Bowers, '51, hurried in her contribution to be second on the list. Mrs. Moore and her husband, who is manager of the Service Tractor Rental Company, Bedford, Pa., live at Hyndman, Pa. The Moores have two children.

The Class of 1955 had the third contributor. This was Max Messenger, Albright.

Dr. Walter B. Homan, a '32, now a veterinarian at Moorefield, and Miss Mary A. Nuce, '47, a teacher of home economics at Paw Paw High School, were others who showed real interest in their alma mater in topping the list of early contributors.

Nearly 3,000 letters of appeal were sent out shortly before Christmas by Carl W. Gustkey, fund drive chairman, to alumni whose addresses are available in the association's files.

The Alumni Association established the drive last fall for the purpose of establishing Potomac State scholarships for worthy high school graduates, without limitation of geographical boundaries. It is hoped that sufficient contributions will be made to have the scholarships range in value from $150 for West Virginia residents who commute to $500 to help meet the needs of out-of-state students residing on the campus.

"Surely every former Potomac State student who benefited by the advantages offered at this college will feel it is a privilege to make a contribution to the scholarship fund, not only to express his gratitude for the rich experience he enjoyed here but to be part of a plan for enabling those who are qualified but could not otherwise meet the financial obligations to obtain a college education," Mr. Gustkey said, in expressing the hope that alumni will remember to send in their contributions.

"Not to be overlooked," he continued, "is the fact that every contribution to this fund is tax deductible."

Garrett County ranked ninth in the state by obtaining 96.4 percent of its quota for the year in Savings Bonds of the U. S. Treasury Department, with a total sale of Series E and H saving bonds for the year of $361,476.

Migratory Missiles Probe Foreseen

The latest expansion rhubarb involving Fort Sill in Oklahoma is beginning to attract notice nationally as various Congressmen sound off. Texas Senator Lyndon Johnson's preparedness subcommittee is reported to be taking a look.

There's an aspect of the matter that ought to give it more national interest than the Army's earlier grab at the Wichita Wildlife Refuge in the same state. In discussions of the present enlargement proposal it has been divulged that the Army is looking toward a time when missiles might be test-fired between impact areas in separate states over intervening populated areas.

Of course, the Pentagon quickly disavowed any immediate intentions of this kind and preferred the verb "contemplate" to "plan" in discussing the matter. However remote, the possibility definitely is one to captivate men's minds. This would be true particularly of people living under the "contemplated" line of fire.

If it's deemed unwise to fire tube artillery over populated areas, how can the sometimes vagrant missiles be considered safer? A congressional investigating committee might be able to bring a little light to this murky corner. Does the Senate have a subcommittee on migratory missiles?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Toll T.V.

It would seem to me that Congress ought to leave the question of "Toll T.V." or "Advertisers' T.V." to the consumer. After all, if you or I are willing to pay a quarter to see Ward Bond drive a wagon, while boy kisses girl and the Indians whoop, that ought to be our option. There can be no public reasons for opposing Toll T.V., although there may be many private ones.

Recently, having become more sedentary, I like, very late at night, to turn on an old-fashioned movie, some of which are very amusing. But I grow weary of having the sequence interrupted by a girl dancing a ballet in front of a box of soap or a fellow with a beard shaving it off, or a woman squirting some stuff on herself to avoid smelling like a human being. These interruptions spoil the picture for me, and therefore I am aroused emotionally against the products. It would be worth two quarters to see the pictures without the interruptions.

But what is even worse than the interruptions is the extremely low quality of the advertisements. Do you really believe that one filter tip is superior to another and that if you have a headache one kind of stuff gets rid of it faster than the other?

If this is true, the FTC is doing a very bad job because it should not permit the inferior commodity to advertise at all. Besides, I don't have a headache and I hate anyone who suggests that I may have a headache. The suggestion might bring one on. So now, I have a device which someone sent me that knocks everything off the air which I reject. But most of the time I forget to use it.

I simply leave the room when the bad advertising comes on. Who needs to know how women make their hair look fancy? When I was young, all that interested me was that a girl was attractive. Nowadays, it is doubly so because I am reaching those years of wisdom and selectivity when beauty is its own reward.

Why spoil my illusions by telling me that the young thing really looks like an old hag, but she has some stuff which she buys in a drug store that removes or erases all her blemishes, all marks of character and refinement, that colors her hair and shades her eyebrows and distorts her mouth and sets her hair and gives her curls, natural and unnatural?

All I want to do is to escape for an hour, before going to bed, from the trials and tribulations of life and politics and Nikita Khrushchev and George Kennan, the Sputnik and the Recession, and watch a tough guy murder a dame and get caught by a cop who nearly loses an arm and a leg doing it. Having thus been lulled to peace, I gently sigh at the normalcy of life in familiar surroundings. But no! Even before I can lift myself from a soft chaise longue, I am told how to clean a sewer.

I willingly would pay four quarters not to be told how to clean a sewer. I have just seen virtue triumph over vice; I have just seen Humphrey Bogart get his just deserts — but no! I must also be told how to clean a sewer. I don't own a sewer. All I want is to see a picture and I'm willing to pay to see it.

There is a committee of Congress called House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which has to pass on this subject. It is said that a combination of networks and theater-owners are organized against natural human progress, namely "Toll T.V." I don't blame them. The networks make money from advertising and the movie houses are having a tough time as it is.

However, a little competition might help them both to improve their product which is pretty poor. Whenever it is necessary to put a sign in a theater marked, "Applause" which flashes on and off urgently when applause is desirable, the show is self-confessedly no good. If the stuff is good, people watching it just naturally applaud. Even the advertisements might be less vulgar, as some really are. I would like to hear one fair and honest argument against Toll T.V. from the consumers' standpoint.

The New Hat Look

Of course it was interesting fashion news when Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed she had bought a new "spring" hat for mid-winter wear.

This was a creation of yellow blossoms and white feathers—the First Lady again showing no liking for extremes in hats but remaining true to the small bonnets or the sailor hats which have been her choice in the past.

But the look the photographers caught on Mrs. Eisenhower's face when she posed with this latest chapeau! Many a man has observed that same expression when his wife donned her newest hat in a private showing. It's a look that melts many a husband's heart, be he just one of the herd or President of the United States.

Husbands generally should be warned that this new hat displayed by the First Lady is likely to cost them money. For what woman will see Mrs. Eisenhower's picture without feeling the urge to give herself a lift by a visit to the milliner?

And an additional word: This is definitely not Mrs. Eisenhower's Easter hat. She still is to select that—and endanger every husband's budget a second time.

Soviet Local Actions Present Major Problem

PARIS. Behind the moon-struck public agitation about negotiating with the Soviets, there lurks a persistent and quite serious question. Is this one of the last-chance moments, when history will take a brisk new turning if a chance is not brisly seized?

All informed Western analysts, including the British and Western European political leaders who pretend to love the idea, are privately convinced that there is no chance to achieve anything by foreign ministers' conferences, disarmament commissions, summit meetings, and the like. As has been suggested in this space already, the Soviet drive for this kind of East-West negotiations in the debating society style is solely a drive to make trouble between the Western allies.

The serious Western European and British analysts of Soviet behavior are also pretty well agreed upon another point, however. On repeated occasions, culminating in a dramatic New Year's toast at the Kremlin reception, Nikita Khrushchev himself has indicated that he wants talks - in - a - corner between the Soviets and Americans. These invitations offer the real chance, if there is any.

They presage no debating society. They are invitations to the kind of talks the Soviets invariably seek when they want to get down to business. The most highly qualified Western analysts are therefore agreed that the Soviets probably really do want to get down to business with the United States at this time — although there is wide diversity of view about the possible subjects they wish to get down to business about.

Yet the Khrushchev invitations have so far met with nothing better than a chilly snub, unless appearances are most misleading.

Maybe some form of American response to Khrushchev has been very secretly agreed upon at the very highest level, between President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and French Premier Gaillard. But this seems highly unlikely. Meanwhile, unless a great many normally truthful people in key positions are now lying, the right response to the Khrushchev invitations has not even been seriously discussed between the American State Department and the British and French Foreign Offices.

It would be insanely dangerous for the Americans to respond to Khrushchev without quietly keeping the other major Western allies in the picture, as a minimum precaution. Thus one must deduce that Khrushchev's invitations have been virtually ignored, despite their extreme importance.

There are many short-term practical reasons for snubbing

Khrushchev in this manner. For one thing, the other Western allies do not trust John Foster Dulles to act as the West's sole spokesman in talks with the Soviets; and even the Secretary of State appears to know that he is crippled by this distrust. For another thing, although sentiment for an exclusive dialogue between the Soviet and American giants is growing among the specialists in the British and French Foreign Offices, such a dialogue would surely cause an explosion of wounded national vanities.

All the same, it is also necessary to consider the necessary practical consequences that may flow from snubbing Nikita Khrushchev at this particular juncture in the world's affairs. On the one hand, the chance that he has offered is not something that we can afford to reject from

Democrat Publisher Alters Policy After Ike Gives Him New Position

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Most forthright newspaper in New Mexico of late has been the Santa Fe New Mexican, founded in 1849, and proud of its boast: "Oldest Newspaper in The West."

Though old in years the New Mexican took on new life when publisher Robert McKinney took it over 10 years ago. The paper exposed financial flinching in the office of the State Adjutant General and forced a refund to the taxpayers. It exposed the terms of the Delhi-Taylor oil deal with the Navajo Indians, showed up graft and inefficiency in the Springfield Reform School and put a stick of publicity dynamite under padded costs of constructing New Mexican prisons.

Publisher McKinney also focused on the operations of New Mexico's Senator Chavez and campaigned for higher taxes on uranium mining. He succeeded in hiking the tax rate.

Then last year, publisher McKinney began a right-about-face. In 1951-52 he had served as Assistant Secretary of the Interior under Truman at which time his newspaper followed a rootin' tootin' pro-Truman policy. But in the spring of 1957, as publisher McKinney began angling for appointment under Eisenhower, orders were given to tone down critical Ike editorials, omit Herblock's cartoons when they were too hard on either Ike or Adm. Lewis Strauss, Atomic Energy Chairman. He also ruled out criticism of Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson.

Later, orders came from the front office to drop criticism of Senator Chavez, Democrat, and of New Mexico's Governor Mecham, Republican.

Editor Resigns

In September, publisher McKinney got his job—U. S. representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

Simultaneously he laid down a policy of no critical editorial comment on Eisenhower, no comment on Dulles, no comment on U. S. foreign policy, no comment on domestic problems, no criticism of New Mexico's Governor Mecham.

Simultaneously, Joseph Lawlor, for six years news editor, then editor, resigned. Explained Lawlor:

"As he left for Europe, McKinney told me: 'My primary interest is in seeing the monthly balance sheet.'"

Lawlor, who had helped expose waste in penitentiary construction, finagling in the Adjutant General's office, inefficiency in state government, was trained in the Thomas Jefferson school: "No government ought to be without censors and where the press is free none ever will."

He felt that if wrongdoing was to be exposed under one administration it should be exposed under another, regardless of whether his publisher held office under Truman or held office under Eisenhower. In either case, the people's interest was involved.

Back in Washington, some Senators seemed to think Lawlor was old-fashioned. Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who obtained for his wife lucrative radio-TV stations in Texas, told fellow Senators he was going to rush McKinney's confirmation through the Senate—without hearings.

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon asked for delay. He wanted time to scrutinize McKinney's record.

"Here is a man who promotes Truman when he serves under Truman and who promotes Eisenhower when he wants a job under Eisenhower," Morse observed to friends. "The people of New Mexico who are dependent on his newspaper to know what's happening in the world are not important to this publisher. He feeds them the news according to whether he wants a job with the Republicans or with the Democrats."

"That is not why the press of the United States was given a special freedom under the Constitution. That freedom was given for the purpose of bettering government, not bettering a publisher's personal ambition."

However, Senator Johnson and Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico refused to wait. They pushed McKinney's nomination through the Senate.

Note—Readers in Santa Fe, N. M., like those in many other cities, can read only one paper. Recent surveys show that in 15 states today there is no single city with multiple ownership of newspapers. In 12 other states there is only one city with multiple ownership of newspapers. Newspaper ownership of radio-TV stations has tended to intensify monopoly of news dissemination. Many publishers are genuinely concerned about this, go out of their way to give readers diverse viewpoints. Some others have narrowed the news, given readers only the publisher's viewpoint.

News Sidelights

Some Congressmen want Rep. John Moss (D., Calif.) who has been doing such a good job of exposing news suppression by government, to do some probing of news suppression or news slanting by big news disseminators. They have in mind the Harry Luce magazine chain. Mrs. Clare Booth Luce was appointed Ambassador to Italy; Time, Life and Fortune became almost worshipful of Eisenhower and Dulles. The then Mrs. Gardner Cowles, now divorced, was appointed Ambassador to the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth. Her sister-in-law Mrs. John Cowles, produced evidence that Vice President Nixon in return got his picture on the cover of Look Magazine, owned by the Cowles brothers. . . . Some of our most criticized presidents have nevertheless championed the right of the press to criticize. They warn that criticism keeps public officials honest, efficient. Said Herbert Hoover, who took quite a belting from the press: "Absolute freedom of the press to discuss public questions is a foundation stone of American liberty." . . . Charles Evans Hughes, Chief Justice of the USA, Governor of New York, and candidate for president, had this to say: "When there is muck to be raked it must be raked and the public must know it, that it may mete out justice. Publicity is a great purifier, because it sets in motion the forces of public opinion and in this country public opinion controls the course of the nation."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The last time I saw Beautiful Duffy was on the Santa Paula. We sailed in the evening down the main street of Curacao and out of the canal into the warm Caribbean. There was a melon moon and, in the dark, on the boat deck, cigarettes glowed and died like romantic lighthouses.

He was tall and slender and he had tight black ringlets in his hair and hazel eyes like demitasse saucers. He was also a clothes horse and, if the men were wearing their pocket kerchiefs square edge up, Beautiful Duffy knew it first. He came from around Providence, and he sounded slightly Boston in his speech.

Beautiful Duffy had no character. Women were his racket, and he worked at it with the diligence of an artisan. He could look into the eyes of a wealthy girl and measure the size of the dollar signs. The campaign was always the same: make them fall in love with him, then get them to support him. Duffy never worked, except at holding hands, and his office hours ran from 8 in the evening until dawn.

Mrs. Bishop was aboard the Santa Paula and she wouldn't give Beautiful Duffy the time of day if she had owned all the clocks on the ship. When she had to nod hello to him, her smile looked as though she had swallowed a red persimmon.

The ship sailed out of Curacao and the ceiling pulled back from the big dining room and we ate under the Southern Cross. Duffy was honest about his dishonesty. He was going to marry Hortense, the most unbeautiful woman he had ever met. He would do this because her late husband had left three tin mines, a hotel, and some real estate up in the lake region.

"How," I said, "did a South American girl get a name like Hortense?"

"American mother," he said. "Snob society from Chicago. She's gone. So is the father."

"The husband too?"

"The husband too. She was in New York trying to forget when I met her. This is a broad you couldn't believe. She's four years older than I, and she cries easy."

POTENTIAL DIABETIC

Mrs. J. writes: How can a child with a diabetic mother be protected against the disease?

REPLY

The die is cast and the chances of developing the disease are one in four if the father is non-diabetic. Much can be done by avoiding obesity, which often precipitates the disease. The urine and blood ought to be tested periodically to detect diabetes in an early stage so treatment can be started.

She cries when I kiss her goodbye, and she cries when I kiss her hello. We dated a lot in New York and there are some dames won't even let a guy foul out without a wedding ring. That's why I'm getting married.

"Weren't you married once before?"

"Never. I'm clean and I can prove it."

"You don't think that this is a mean trick, sort of?"

"On Hortense? Don't make me smile. She's lucky."

I was sleeping when the Santa Paula got in La Guaira. This is where the jade waves of the Caribbean lap against the big brown waves of mountains. Mrs. B., who could never sleep until everyone else was up, leaned on the rail and saw Beautiful Duffy get off and saw him kiss a stout woman at the foot of the gangplank.

"Is she pretty?" I said, pulling on a sock.

Mrs. Bishop was always charitable about women. The worst she would say about Bull Montana, if Bull was a girl, was that he was "plain." She sighed. "This one is plain," she said. "Awfully plain."

That was the last I heard of Beautiful Duffy.

Last October, Elinor started on the Long Cruise alone and, among the condolence cards and mass cards was one signed "Mr. & Mrs. Duffy." I looked on the back flap and the address was in New York, not far from Eddie Condon's place. So I phoned and we made a lunch date.

I waited until after the fruit cup and a few pleasant lines. Then I asked if Mrs. Duffy was the lady from South America. He said yes, and he said it kind of sadly.

"I know the questions you're going to ask," Beautiful Duffy said, "and I might as well right away. Hortense hasn't got a dime. Never had a dime. Never had a husband with tin mines. Nothing."

"Then why did you—"

"I'm a dunce. I fell in love with her. I'm working nights as a bartender."

"Any—"

"Two. They look like me." . . .

Best Way To Keep Knees Limber Is To Use Them

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many elderly persons who love to walk become discouraged and despondent when something happens to their legs. The knees frequently are responsible because they are subject to years of wear and tear. Keeping weight within normal limits helps by reducing strain on the surface of the joints. But moderate stiffness and pain should not act as an excuse to stop exercise. There is no better way to keep the knees limber than to use them.

If walking hurts too much, a daily routine of mild calisthenics is preferred. Flexing and extending the legs while sitting in a chair or lying in bed will help. These exercises can be done a few times at first and increased gradually until the knees are bent 10 to 15 times during each session. The legs may be exercised in this way while working at a desk.

Poor circulation due to hardening of the arteries also leads to cramping of the calf of the legs after walking a block or two. Pain disappears with a few moments of rest; the individual should determine how far he can go before developing the cramp and stop just shy of this distance. Various medical and surgical procedures are available to help improve circulation.

Heat eases the joints but when the circulation is poor, too much may burn the skin. Hence it is wise to get advice along this line from the physician. Well fitting shoes protect the feet and should be worn at all times. Many oldsters go around the house in bedroom slippers which do not support the arches. Slippers also affect equilibrium and are a common cause of stumbling and falling.

The legs must be used as nature intended. A daily walk out of doors is a good health habit at any age, but our senior citizens ought to forgo this pleasure during extremes in temperature or when the wind is high or the path is steep. A cane is a wonderful companion; it gives support and comes in handy, especially when crossing the street.

400 Attend Tenth Anniversary Dinner Of Dapper Dans

Rod Breedlove And Bill Hahn Given Plaques

Sports Celebrities Occupy Spotlight At St. Mary's Hall

A young man who left Cumberland nine years ago and today is chief clerk to the United States Supreme Court last night told a gathering of about 400 persons assembled at St. Mary's Hall for the tenth anniversary dinner of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club that the development of mind, body and moral principals is more important to this nation in establishing world leadership than the development of scientific.

Jack Fey stressed that the Dapper Dan movement is a great demonstration in sportsmanship because the program sponsored by the organization develops the minds and bodies of young men in the struggle for world supremacy. Mr. Fey pointed out that the fact that Justices of the Supreme Court are interested in athletics is an indication of the importance of sports in American life.

"The struggle for world supremacy is a contest of minds and this kind of leadership is needed," the speaker declared.

Chief Clerk Fey was among the many celebrities who were introduced and called upon for brief remarks by Joe Tucker, sports scribe of the "Post-Courier," who acted as toastmaster for the program that lasted about three hours.

Breedlove Receives Trophy

The annual Dapper Dan Award, a suitably engraved plaque that goes to the athlete who does the most to publicize Cumberland nationally in athletics, was presented to Rodney Breedlove, former Allegany High School athlete and sophomore guard at the University of Maryland, by Dr. Robert Earl Shroat, vice president of the local chapter of the Dapper Dans.

Breedlove, who earned a berth on the first Atlantic Coast Conference all-star team and received honorable mention on the Associated Press All-America team, upon accepting the trophy, expressed thanks to the donor and remarked:

"I have been looking forward to this since I was in the seventh grade. I am grateful to be associated in some small way with the Dapper Dan Club."

Later in the program, Al Abrams, of Pittsburgh, national president of the Dapper Dans, presented the local club's special achievement trophy to Coach William P. Hahn, whose Fort Hill High School football team established a new Cumberland record by winning ten consecutive games in 1957.

In introducing Hahn, Abrams called attention to the fact that Hahn's team won ten in a row and added: "This is something because the Pittsburgh Pirates play 154 games a season and they have a heluva time winning in a row."

"It's a great pleasure to coach boys and see them go up," Hahn declared. "Winning games is the greatest thing to happen to a coach."

De-Emphasizers Lashed

Hahn urged Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, who sat near the microphone, to prod those who would curtail sports in Maryland's schools, putting de-emphasis on contact sports. He recalled that Vice President Nixon in a recent speech stated that the only thing wrong with contact sports was that we don't have enough of them.

"Let's hope we can have Little League and Hot Stove League football in the near future," Hahn concluded.

Rev. Bruce Price, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church, started off the program by giving the invocation after being introduced by Peter J. Carpentel, local attorney.

Carpentel also pinch-hit for Christ Charubas, newly elected president of the Dapper Dan Club, by reading the latter's speech and Mayor Roy W. Eves extended greetings in behalf of the city.

Father Arthur W. Bastress, of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, said that the Dapper Dan dinner which is held annually for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, is something close to his heart — children. The Catholic priest stated that he served for four years in Baltimore but his greatest opportunity came in Cumberland. He said the Dapper Dan Club is doing wonderful work for our children and our future. "Keep your children's character and personality in your mind's eye," he added.

Introduces Oldtimers

William V. Keegan, past president of the local club, introduced a group of "oldtimers," namely, Johnny Byrnes, Johnny Stafford, Tommy McGuire, Raymond "Ike" Law, Phil Reich, of Meyersdale; Jimmy Allen, Clifton "Tippy" Fuller, Maryland's first quarterback; Meyer K. O. Christner, J. Perry Greenwade and Ray Blackburn. "Chad" Riley, of Radio Station WBO introduced J. Suter Kegg, C. V. Burns and Jim Day, of the Fourth Estate; Clifton Van Roby, Floyd "Sammy" Cozad and William German of Station WBO.

duced by Herbert Wright, director of public relations for the Baltimore Colts of the NFL, who demerks by Joe Tucker, sports scribe of the "Post-Courier," who acted as toastmaster for the program that lasted about three hours.

Baltimore's chief executive said he hoped the Dapper Dan Club grows by leaps and bounds and requested that when the boys grow up to send them to the Colts and Orioles.

Suggests Shorter Games
Toastmaster Tucker remarked that Baltimore was a great city when 4,000 fans turned out to the airport to greet the Colts after they were defeated. "If Baltimore could shorten games one minute the Colts would be home free," he jokingly remarked.

Roy Lester, freshman coach at the University of Maryland, introduced the following:

Coaches Bill Hahn, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Chester G. Payne, Tommy O'Connor, George Geatz and Norman F. Geatz Jr. of this area, and also "Whitey" Dovell and Jack Hennemier, assistant coaches, and John Forbes, Barry Sterner and Carl Brown, Maryland athletes.

After Mr. Carpentel introduced the members of the Cumberland All-City football team of 1957, the speakers were Gus Triandos of the Baltimore Orioles, Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, the Hall of Famer; Charlie "King Kong" Keller, one-time Yankee home run clouter and 1957 coach of the American League champions; Earl Morrill, Pittsburgh Steelers' quarterback; Ray Krouse, 275-pound tackle of the Detroit Lions, 1957 N.F.L. champions; Del Miller, of Washington, Pa., harness racing driver, owner, breeder and trainer; K. O. Christner, former heavyweight boxer; Frank Thomas and Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates; "Chuck" Tanner, of the Chicago Cubs, and Tony Venzon, National League umpire.

Calls Cobb Greatest
"Lefty" Grove described Ty Cobb as the greatest player he ever saw. When asked what his reaction was when he was belted for a home run, Grove replied: "There was no reaction because I furnished the power for it."

Keller stated that he was in the American League two years before he got a hit off Grove. He picked Bill Dickey as the best catcher he ever saw, adding that he roomed with the Yankee catcher for five years. Joe DiMaggio was the greatest all-around player in his book and Ted Williams the greatest hitter.

Ronnie Cook, crippled lad, was presented an autographed baseball by Charlie Keller. A football, autographed by celebrities present was given to Rodney Breedlove by Del Miller, but the Mary-

When Danny Murtaugh took over as Pittsburgh Pirate manager last August 3rd, his regular infield was composed of Frank Thomas, Bill Mazeroski, Dick Groat and Gene Freese. This quartet probably was the best hitting infield in the National League—for as a unit, they batted .293. This fine average was one of the main reasons why the Bucs played .510 last under Murtaugh.

Venturi Wins Palm Springs Golf Tourney

Demaret, Littler Tied For Second

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 26.—San Francisco's Ken Venturi tucked away the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament in easy fashion today, shooting his fourth sub-par round and turning back the challenge of some of the game's more seasoned performers.

The 26-year-old former amateur star, who tried and missed in a playoff a year ago for Thunderbird's top money, added a one-under-par 70 to previous rounds of 70-63-66 and posted a 72-hole total of 269.

15 Under Par

That was 15 strokes under par for the distance and gave him the victory by four strokes over Jimmy Demaret and Gene Littler. Demaret, who beat Venturi in last year's play-off, challenged for awhile and ended with a 69, and Littler had a 70 for 273. The win was worth $1,500 plus a $4,500 automobile for Venturi.

Venturi toured the Thunderbird Country Club's 6,080-yard, par 36-35-71 championship course under a bright sun in 36-34-70.

Tied at 274 were Jack Burke, Stan Leonard of Canada and Don Fairfield, a relative newcomer to the golf trail from Casey, Ill. Tommy Bolt was next at 275.

Four Shoot 276

Four players, headed by U.S. Open champion Dick Mayer, finished at 276. Mayer had a last round 70. Dave Marr from Rumson, N. J., and Frank Stranahan had 68s, and Billy Maxwell closed with a 70.

The young San Franciscan figured in the celebrated blowup in the 1956 Masters. For three rounds the then amateur had the professionals whipped, but he soared to a last round 80 and Burke went on to win the big championship.

There was no blowup today. Venturi had one birdie and one bogey on the first side while Demaret was wobbly with two birdies and two bogeys as they played side by side. Both were a little shaky coming home but it was soon apparent that Venturi had this one in his pocket.

Pitt Frosh Like Changes In Rules

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26.—A poll taken among twenty-five University of Pittsburgh players on the 1957 freshman squad showed approval of the two changes in the rules regarding substitution and the extra point.

In fact, all twenty-five players like the change in the substitution rule. Most of them gave the same answer but in different words. Some of the comments were: "It gives a chance for a player receiving a slight injury to leave the game and return. It will enable more sophomores to see action. Players will get more rest and then produce better when they are playing. More boys can play."

Coach John Michelosen is definitely in favor of the new substitution rule for practically the same reasons. "It will make football a better game and at the same time, more interesting for the spectators," the former Pitt star said.

On the change in scoring, 15 players like the new rule. They include 11 linemen and five backs. Nine players, five backs and four linemen, are against it.

He's Ty's Grandson

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Charlie Cobb, 12-year-old grandson of baseball Hall of Famer Ty Cobb, is the one millionth midget league football player registered with the Pop Warner National Conference in Philadelphia.

The first boy to sign with the organization in 1930 was Alex Savinski of Frankford, Pa. Today he is a Philadelphia policeman.

Orioles Give Record Bonus To Nicholson

St. Louis Youngster Gets About $110,000

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 26.—One of major league baseball's biggest giveaway programs ended today as the Baltimore Orioles signed Dave Nicholson for a price estimated at $110,000 or above.

Nicholson's ball playing experience is limited to high school contests and a league for 18-21 year olds.

Fifteen of the big league teams, all except the Detroit Tigers, originally clamored around the bidding block for the 18-year-old, 210-pound outfield prospect but the only ones to come down to the wire were the Chicago Cubs and White Sox and the Orioles.

The Nicholson family's monetary problems went past mere volume. At the last minute the Nicholsons secured the services of a tax consultant in order to determine which offer would have the most eventual value.

The youth's services were not eligible for bids until last week when his class graduated from high school. He was not a candidate for a diploma, having withdrawn from school last year.

Nicholson's home town team, the Cardinals, pulled out early in the game, reportedly around the $60,000 mark.

Scouting reports say Nicholson is fast, has a good throwing arm and is a powerful hitter.

The top bonus prince ever paid a major league prospect was an estimated $125,000 by the Boston Red Sox for Frank Baumann, a pitcher and also a St. Louisan, in 1952. Bob Taylor Milwaukee Braves catcher acquired last year, and pitcher Paul Pettit taken by the Pirates in 1950 were in the $100,000 class.

Mary Ann Downey Cops Golf Title

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 26.—Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, who tried eight years to win the Helen Lee Doherty golf title, did it today by defeating Mrs. Marlene Streit of Fort Hill, Ont., 1-up on the 37th hole.

Mrs. Streit had a 1-up lead going up to the 36th hole and missed a 18-inch putt, losing the hole. On the extra 37, Mrs. Streit over-rolled the cup on a 12-foot putt and Miss Downey sank hers from eight feet out.

Stuart To Return

Dick Stuart, the colorful home run-hitting slugger coming back to the Pittsburgh Pirates this spring as a first baseman, has broken the all-time home run record in the Dominican Republic Winter League. Big Stu already has hit 14 roundtrippers playing for Aguila Cibaeñas, and George Sisler, the Bucs Hall of Fame batting coach, says that "Stuart has a good chance to make the club this year." Sisler recently spent a few days with Stuart on a Caribbean inspection trip.

Williams, Golez, Burdette Honored

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Ted Williams, Larry Golez and Lew Burdette were honored tonight at the 35th annual dinner of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn.

Williams, voted the Sid Mercer Memorial Plaque as "Player of the Year" for 1957, was not present to accept the honor.

Golez, veteran National League umpire who recently was retired by President Warren—Giles, accepted the William J. Slocum Memorial Award for long and meritorious service.

The Babe Ruth Trophy, annually awarded to the outstanding player in the most recent World Series, went to Burdette, the Milwaukee right hander who won three games from the New York Yankees last fall.

Ridgeley High And Mt. Savage Clash Tonight

Martinsburg Hosts Frederick In CVAL

Coach Tom O'Connor's Ridgeley High School cagers will be shooting for their ninth win of the season tonight when they play the Mt. Savage High School Indians at 8 o'clock.

Ridgeley owns an 8-6 record, including a 52-44 win over Mt. Savage. The Indians have won only two out of 11 contests this season.

Frederick High School's front-running Cadets will meet the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs in an important Cumberland Valley Athletic League game tonight at Martinsburg.

Coach Homer Brooks' aggregation had quite a battle on its hands before disposing of the Bulldogs by the score of 40-39 in the series opener at Frederick January 17 and should find Coach George Whitacre's team tough to whip on its home floor. Martinsburg split even at home last week, losing to Allegheny on Tuesday, 56-49, and winning over Fort Hill on Friday, 72-47 through a brilliant 30-out-of-39 performance at the foul line.

Frederick leads the CVAL race with a 5-1 record and is the defending champion in the six-school circuit. Fort Hill occupies second place with 4-2 and Martinsburg is third with 3-3. Each team plays a schedule of ten games in the league.

Overall records of the teams are 9-1 for Frederick and 5-3 for Martinsburg.

Two CVAL games are on tap for Tuesday night when Allegheny plays host to Nick Scallion's South Hagerstown High Rebels and Fort Hill tests Mel Henry's North Hagerstown quint in the Hub City.

Keyser And Romney To Open Petersburg Tourney On March 6

Petersburg High School will be the site for the West Virginia Section 6-A high school basketball tournament March 6, 7 and 8.

On opening night Keyser and Romney will play at 7:15 and Martinsburg will face Petersburg at 9 o'clock.

Charles Town drew a bye in the first round and will oppose the winner of the Keyser-Romney game at 7:15 in the semi-final round. Franklin High is slated to battle the winner of the Martinsburg-Petersburg tilt.

Finals are set for March 8 at 8 p. m.

Thomas Sites, principal of Petersburg High, is the tourney director.

The championship team and runner-up will receive trophies. Medals will go to twelve members of the winning squad and the all-tournament team of eight.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

AK 8 4 ♥ 6 3 ♦ 8 7 3 2 ♠ 10 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 heart Double 2 hearts Pass

2 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. All pressure should be taken off your partner, who has shown a very strong hand by repeating his double. If you had merely three spades, there is a great likelihood that he will have to pass.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

AK 2 ♠ A J 9 7 6 3 ♥ K J 8 6

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 heart Pass 2 hearts Pass

2 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. There was suitable call available on your first turn to bid, but the "unusual" no trump will not serve as a request for partner's best minor. Your failure to double will indicate a lack of interest in the spade suit and a no trump bid at this stage could hardly be a natural call. Therefore, a message to partner should be clear—"I have distinct value in both minor suits. Please choose between them."

Q. 3—As South you hold:

AKQ 10 4 ♥ 7 2 ♦ K 9 6 ♠ Q 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 heart Pass 1 spade West

2 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Hope for slam should be abandoned. You have 12 points in high cards, and since partner has a maximum of 20 the partnership assets are at most 32 points, insufficient for a slam with this balanced holding.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

AKQ 10 7 5 ♥ 8 ♦ K J 9 7 3 ♠ 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 heart Pass 1 spade West

2 no trump Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. It may seem a bit unusual to recommend bidding a three card suit which contains no ace at this point. However, it seems to be the best available bid. South can't trump bid there must be a sound play for four hearts, and you should bid it directly. A bid of three hearts would not be proper because that would denote more in the way of high cards, and a bid of two hearts would be altogether out of the question because of its inadequacy.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

AKQ 9 7 5 3 ♥ K 10 6 4 ♠ A 9 4

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 club Pass 1 spade Pass

2 spades Pass 3 clubs Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. It may seem a bit unusual to recommend bidding a three card suit which contains no ace at this point. However, it seems to be the best available bid. South can't trump bid there must be a sound play for four hearts, and you should bid it directly. Q. 6—As South you hold:

AKQ 9 7 4 ♠ KQ 10 ♠ A Q 10 9 8

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 club Pass 1 spade Pass

2 spades Pass 3 clubs Pass

Television and Radio by John Crosby

Thornton Wilder Gets Justice

Just when we all get to thinking that television is irrevocably committed to an untouchable level of dull mediocrity, something like "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" comes along and lifts up the whole industry.

"The Bridge of San Luis Rey" has all the things that big television ought to have. It started with an important book. Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize winner, which has the additional spice of being extraordinarily difficult to fashion into a ninety-minute TV play. It was beautifully cast with competent and frequently brilliant players who were not necessarily big movie names. It was done live and it was superbly directed by Robert Mulligan for DuPont's Show of the Month, which is just beginning to live up to its original promise.

"On Friday noon, July the twentieth, 1714, the finest bridge in all Peru broke and precipitated five travelers into the gulf below." The story starts and the narrator, Captain Alvarado, wants to know why: "Either we live by accident and die by accident or we live by plan and die by plan." Right away you have the makings of a tale that has the hallmarks of Wilder's particularly different and fresh and original mind. Why Peru? Why the eighteenth century? Why the quest at all?

"The Bridge" is not just one fine story; it is four fine stories. The story of the twin boy who finds life insupportable when his twin dies (Wilder is himself a twin whose twin was stillborn) is tremendously moving. Then there is the Perichole, the most famous actress in Peru, and her creator and tormentor Uncle Pio. There is the Abbess who loves and has high hopes for the orphan Pepita. There is the drunken, despairing and wildly loving Marquessa whose life is so wrapped up in her unheeding daughter's that she exists solely to write her unanswered letters.

All these characters are fresh, original, powerful and touched with nobility. There is nothing ordinary about them or their lives and their problems—so terribly strange and remote from mine or those of anyone I know—seem terribly urgent and compelling and real. Ludi Clair, who adapted the novel, has preserved and even intensified this emotional urgency and deep humanity. As for Wilder's message—"There is a land of the living and a land of the dead and the bridge is love, the only survival, the only meaning."—I don't fully understand it but it seems important anyhow.

There were some perfectly splendid performances headed by Judith Anderson's. Miss Anderson was a full-blooded Spanish noblewoman whose capacity for love was her undoing, both pathetic and rather grand. Viveca Lindfors' performance as La Perichole was something else—ferocious (and a little too toothy at first) but full of heart and deep sympathy in the later part where she has lost her beauty and her world. As Esteban, the heartbroken twin, Steve Hill had great intensity and the kind of sweetness the character called for. Sandra Whiteside was an inspired choice for the young Pepita and Hume Cronyn was expert in the rather thankless chore of Uncle Pio.

There were always some wonderful scenes in "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." The death of the twin, the scene in which the Marquessa meets La Perichole ("I did not know your goodness"), the Marquessa finding the wistful note of the little Pepita ("What have I done?"), they are all great individually but collectively they seem to increase in emotional stature and power.

Altogether, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" was a fine tribute to live television, certainly the most fitting compliment yet paid to Wilder. This is the third of Wilder's stories to be done. "Our Town" was done with Frank Sinatra in the role of narrator and it was pretty close to a disaster. The second was "Skin of Our Teeth," a play whose merit is not universally recognized. This is the one people will remember the longest.

Md. Democrats Give Finan Campaign Post

Harmony Ticket Names Chairman

Thomas B. Finan of this city last night was announced as the state-wide county campaign chairman for the Tawes-D'Alesandro ticket in Maryland's Democratic primary election of May 20.

J. Millard Tawes, who heads the ticket as its candidate for nomination for governor, also announced in Baltimore the appointment of Lawrence B. Fenneman, Baltimore lawyer and real estate developer, as the general campaign chairman and William F. Hilgenberg of Baltimore as campaign treasurer.

Mr. Finan, who is rounding out his eighth year as Cumberland's city solicitor, also is chairman of the Allegany County Democratic Committee.

Still Uncertain

Several weeks ago it was rumored that Mr. Finan might seek the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District. Contacted here last night, he said that he still was uncertain about the Congressional race.

At the time he was offered the Maryland county campaign chairmanship, Mr. Finan said, the question of his entering the Congressional race was not even discussed.

State Comptroller Tawes has been endorsed by the Democratic committees in virtually all of the 23 Maryland counties in his gubernatorial bid.

Manpower Director

Fenneman was director of the Maryland branch of the War Manpower Board for four years during World War II. He also is a former assistant and deputy city solicitor and was Maryland chairman of the Democratic presidential campaign advisory committee in 1956.

Hilgenberg, operator of a large seafood business, is president of the Baltimore board of fire commissioners, a director of the Baltimore Colts football and past president of the Advertising Club.

Fenneman and Finan were regarded as leaders of the Democratic party wing which, headed by Tawes and George P. Mahoney, gained control of the party machinery in the 1956 state convention. The principal figure of the opposing wing then was Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, now running for nomination to the U. S. Senate on the Tawes "harmony" ticket. Mahoney is one of his opponents in that primary.

Hilgenberg has been associated with the mayor for many years.

A "harmony" headquarters announcement said the Baltimore campaign chairman will be named later.

Other Developments

In other Maryland political developments this weekend:

1. James Bruce, another contender for the Democratic senatorial nomination, called for more research into possible new uses for farm commodities and an end to inter-service rivalry in the Pentagon. He also told a Montgomery County audience he is running for his first elective office after a career as diplomat and businessman because he considers himself the "best qualified" candidate.

2. H. C. Byrd was reported sounding out Eastern Shore friends on his prospects for success if he withdrew from the gubernatorial primary and ran for Democratic nomination to Congress from the First District.

3. Rep. Samuel N. Friedel announced he will seek Democratic renomination in the Seventh Congressional District, which lies entirely within Baltimore City.

4. State's Atty. J. Harold Grady, appointed to office in 1956 when Anselm Sodaro was named to the Baltimore Supreme Bench, announced he will run for nomination to a full term.

D'Alesandro Greeted

Baltimore's Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro (center) chats with an old Baltimore Orioles player, Robert M. (Lefty) Grove (right) and Charles (King Kong) Keller of Frederick County, one-time home-run hitter for the New York Yankees, at the 10th anniversary Dapper Dan Banquet last night at St. Mary's Hall, Grove, a member of the Cooperstown, N. Y., Baseball Hall of Fame, won 300 ball games during his major league pitching career, which included stints with the pennant-winning Orioles teams of the 1920s, the Philadelphia Athletics and the Boston Red Sox. He now serves on the Lonaconing Town Council. Keller, first base coach with the Yankees last year, now breeds standardbred harness racing horses. About 400 attended last night's dinner.

Western Maryland Lists Record 1957 Net Income

Bridge Class Starts Feb. 3

A new series of bridge lessons for beginners will start Monday, February 3, under sponsorship of the City Recreation Department, according to Mrs. Eva M. Hogan, assistant to the recreation director.

Instead of the 10-week schedule that has prevailed for the first six bridge classes conducted by the Recreation Department, the new one will run for 15 weeks.

Mrs. Hogan said the reason for the extension is to provide a period of learning to play with each weekly lesson. C. C. DeHaven, who has instructed five of the six previous classes, again will be the instructor.

The classes will start at 8 p. m. each Monday in rooms 1 and 2 of Central YMCA. Those interested in enrolling should call the Recreation Department office at PA 2-7360.

Those who complete this 15-week course will be welcomed into a Friday night bridge club composed of graduates of the classes. This new club plays each Friday night at the Naval Reserve Armory on McKaig's Hill.

Lions Club To Hear Talk On Insurance

Property insurance will be discussed at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The discussion will be conducted by Robert Barnard and John Geare of Barnes, Bernard and Geare Insurance Company.

Plane Victims Located Along New Creek Mt.

Cessna Crashes Near Keyser

The wreckage of a Cessna 140 light airplane which carried two men to their deaths on Wednesday night when it crashed on rugged New Creek mountain about 15 miles south of Keyser was located on Saturday.

Killed in the crash which touched off a three-state search were William Mucklow, a Morgantown, W. Va., businessman and Davis Fowler of St. Louis, pilot of the plane.

A Mr. Rotruck who resides at Martin at the foot of the mountain below the famous Nancy Hanks "Saddle," heard a radio broadcast Friday night that a plane was missing in that area.

The following morning he informed A. V. Thrush, manager of Baker's Air Park at Burlington, that he heard a crash and saw a flash of light near the summit.

Mr. Thrush, who is a Ground Observers Corps supervisor for the Burlington area, joined by Frank Plackey, Haywood Rogers and Elwood Rogers, went to the home of Mr. Rotruck, who pointed out the site of the wreck from his front yard.

Climb Rocky Slope

The men climbed the rugged slope and found the wreckage of the plane. The body of the pilot was still in the seat. Mr. Mucklow's body was found about 30 yards away from the fuselage of the ship.

The wreckage and bodies of the victims were located in about 10 inches of snow which had fallen on Friday. Mr. Thrush and his party descended the mountain and informed West Virginia State Police at Romney.

Trooper Charles E. Dorsey of Romney, and Trooper Charles Oliver, Keyser, went to the scene with the four men to recover the bodies. Early Saturday evening they began their climb, a mile and a half up the mountain, to carry out the bodies. They traveled as far as they could in jeeps and walked the rest of the way.

The bodies were taken to the Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser. Early yesterday morning the body of Mr. Mucklow was taken to a funeral home in Morgantown and early this morning the body of the pilot was shipped to St. Louis.

Helicopters were to have arrived in Cumberland yesterday and a search center was to be established at the Municipal Airport. A number of planes from the tri-state area had been searching for the missing craft since it was last heard from at 7:19 p. m. Wednesday when the pilot radioed his position as 10,000 feet above a layer of clouds over Morgantown Airport.

He was informed by Morgantown Airport that the ceiling was 1,200 feet with several miles visibility. The pilot answered that he was in no trouble, and thought it wiser to return to Harrisburg than try to drop through the clouds.

About 7:45 p. m. Wednesday four Keyser men saw the plane in the glare of lights from the B&O railroad yards. They said the plane circled the Keyser airport and then headed in the direction of Elkins. Keyser's airport is not equipped with lights.

The Civil Air Patrol conducted a widespread search in the area between Elkins and Keyser. Coordinating the efforts was the First Air Force Area Command.

Mr. Mucklow, who is an alumnus of West Virginia University, was married to the former Eleanor Jones and was affiliated with his father-in-law, Leonard H. Jones, in the operation of the L. H. Jones Equipment Company of Morgantown.

Liquor Dealers Suggest New Legislation

Sale To Minors Change Sought

The Allegany County Alcoholic Beverage Association would like to see some changes in the liquor laws.

Legislation beneficial to the association was discussed with State Sen. Charles M. See and members of the county delegation at a meeting at the Court House Friday.

John M. Robb, attorney for the association, acted as spokesman for the group. He emphasized that one law change which the liquor dealers favor is the one concerning the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors. The present law simply states that the licensee holder must exercise "due care" in ascertaining whether a person seeking alcoholic beverages is of legal age. Mr. Robb said the association would like the bill to spell out the specific actions which the licensee holder should take.

The association spokesman said his group also believes the penalties should be more stringent on minors who falsify their age in getting alcoholic beverages.

Mr. Robb also pointed out that the liquor laws allow Allegany County establishments to sell until midnight and yet on Saturday nights the tables must be cleared by midnight. It is a physical impossibility to sell until midnight and at the same time have the tables cleared, he noted.

Some license holders also would like to operate their establishments on standard time the year round rather than moving to fast time from April through October.

Concerning the proposed "due care" amendment, the legislators suggested that the liquor dealers work through their state association to get the Legislative Council to hold hearings and prepare suggested legislation for introduction as a state-wide measure in the 1959 session of the General Assembly. They expressed doubts that there is sufficient time now to muster enough strength to get action on the bill during the upcoming 30-day session which starts February 5.

All of the other matters discussed are strictly local and could not be considered until the 90-day session next year, the legislators added.

Members of the association's legislative committee, Casper R. Taylor Sr., Robert E. Robinette and Raymond D. Hanna, also conferred with the legislators.

Area Driver Injured In Car Crash

Ralph Thomas Skelley Jr., 40 of RD 5, city, is reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital where he was admitted yesterday morning with injuries sustained in a one-car crash on U.S. Route 220 at Cresaptown.

He is reported to have suffered possible fractures of his right shoulder and left arm, severe lacerations of both knees and a laceration of the left side of his chest.

Mr. Skelley was admitted to the hospital at 9:25 a. m. and will be X-rayed. Authorities said the accident occurred at 8:35 a. m. when Mr. Skelley apparently went to sleep at the wheel.

The car, they said, crossed the highway and ran into a bridge abutment. Mr. Skelley was traveling south on the highway at the time of the accident.

Trooper Carlton Lewis of the Maryland State Police investigated.

Ryan Proposed For New Board

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Maryland labor leaders submitted to Gov. McKeldin today a list of eight lawyers as their recommendations for appointment to the new Workmen's Compensation Commission.

The Maryland State-District of Columbia AFL-CIO followed the lead of three bar associations in suggesting that the five new commissioners be picked from those on its list. Similar lists had been submitted earlier by the city and State bar associations and by the Maryland Plaintiffs Bar Assn.

Recommended by the state-D.C. AFL-CIO were three members of the present State Industrial Accident Commission, which the new agency will replace—Lester Crowther and Helen Elizabeth Brown of Baltimore and Daniel Doherty of Rockville.

Also on the list was J. Howard Holzer of Baltimore, a former member of the industrial accident agency.

Others recommended were Thomas Glass, Frederick; John Dwyer, Rockville; William H. Murphy, Baltimore and Edward Ryan, Cumberland.

To Discuss Trip

William C. Walsh, local attorney, will discuss his recent trip to Europe at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Md. VFW Auxiliary Head Travels 13,500 Miles

Mrs. Raymond Reynolds, 420 Maryland Avenue, who is serving this fiscal year as state president of the Department of Maryland, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ladies Auxiliary, has completed official visits to all 17 districts of Maryland VFW, has visited national headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., and has traveled a total of 13,500 miles in the interest of the organization's affairs.

Since being installed as state president last June 20 in Baltimore, Mrs. Reynolds has devoted practically all her time to the office.

Membership in the auxiliary in Maryland is far ahead of last year, and all units have adopted more active programs in working with their posts and in their work with hospitalized veterans, she stated.

At Christmas, for example, VFW auxiliary members visited patients in Maryland's three veteran hospitals and distributed gifts and cheer packages. Mrs. Reynolds supervised and assisted with the wrapping of 1,600 Christmas gifts for hospitalized veterans. This task was undertaken at Perry Point Hospital, she said, and was completed in a single day by a committee of 12 people.

Mrs. Reynolds called attention to the success of the Maryland campaign for the multiple sclerosis fund, which was endorsed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary. A total of $75,000 was raised to help combat this disease.

A lifelong resident of Cumberland, Mrs. Reynolds is a member of Kingsley Methodist Church, is a charter member of Navy Mothers Club 514, and has been a member of Henry Hart Unit 1411, VFW Auxiliary for 30 years.

For 30 years, she has been active in the work of the organization, has held every office in her unit, and is a past president of the Past President's Club. She has held every elective office in the state department organization.

Mrs. Reynolds has a daughter, Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, wife of George Zimmerman, here, who is also a past president of the local auxiliary and is past president of VFW District Auxiliary 3.

Mrs. Reynolds's son, Paul Reynolds, a veteran of World War II, is a member of Henry Hart Post, and her husband, a veteran of World War I, is a past commander of the post. He is a retired Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company employee. Mrs. Reynolds is an active member of the Baltimore and Ohio Ladies Co-Operative Traffic Club and is now president of that group for a two-year term.

Police Nab 3 Girls In Theft

Three teen-age girls who admitted taking a car from Worcester, Mass., and headed south, were apprehended yesterday by Pennsylvania police, who reported the juveniles also admitted taking a sum of money from a motel employee in the Bedford Interchange area.

The three girls, who eluded authorities by traveling along rural roads during the early morning hours, were taken into custody three minutes after entering the Turnpike.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said they received a call about 1 a. m. from the motel, reporting the theft of the money. One girl, they said, grabbed a sum of money while the motel employee was momentarily distracted by the other two girls.

Adjacent counties of Pennsylvania were alerted, as were Maryland State Police at LaVale. The three girls were taken to the substation at Bedford for questioning.

They are now lodged in the Ebersburg Detention Home for juveniles pending further action by authorities. The parents of the juveniles have been notified, as well as the FBI and authorities of Worcester.

CUF Outlines Policy Toward Health Units

The County United Fund's policy in regard to drives for funds to be conducted in this area by national health agencies was clarified by the CUF Steering Committee comprised of Lewis J. Ort, Woodward D. Pealer and William R. Carscaden.

During the campaign of the County United Fund in October all contributors were advised that offerings of funds would be made to the national health agencies even though their national policies would not allow them to be come affiliated with the CUF, the committee pointed out.

On November 27, 1957, the following offerings were made: Allegany-Garrett County Muscular Dystrophy Association, $3,000; Allegany County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, $20,000; and Allegany-Garrett Counties Heart Association, $17,000, the committee added.

The committee's statement continues as follows:

"The Muscular Dystrophy Association advised the County United Fund that it raised in its 1956 campaign in this area somewhere between $1,800 and $2,000. The association has rejected the offering of $3,000 and has requested $5,000. The increased request will be acted upon at the next meeting of the Executive Committee of the County United Fund. The Muscular Dystrophy Association did distribute canisters throughout the area during December, but it has been reported to the County United Fund that it did not conduct house to house, mail or direct solicitation campaigns.

"To date the Allegany County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which conducts a drive commonly referred to as the March of Dimes, has not replied to the offering of $20,000 made by the County United Fund, which sum equals the amount of their announced goal for the present campaign.

"The Allegany-Garrett Counties Heart Association has not replied to the offering of $17,000, which is equal to the amount raised by them in the area served by the County United Fund during their 1957 campaign.

"The Steering Committee further feels that the County United Fund has discharged its obligations to its contributors and members to the various national health agencies that have already announced campaigns since offerings have been made to them. If the contributors to the County United Fund desire to contribute to the national health agencies that will not accept moneys from the Fund, it is certainly their prerogative to do so.

"No offerings have been made to associations, health or otherwise, that merely conduct direct mail campaigns such as the Allegany-Garrett County Tuberculosis Association (Christmas Seals) since the purpose of the County United Fund is to avoid personal solicitation campaigns rather than mail campaigns. It is estimated that there are hundreds of direct mail campaigns which are almost continuous throughout the year. However, since these campaigns have no personal solicitation feature, the giver must determine as to whether or not he or she will contribute to such a campaign."

Winfield H. Adam, executive director of the County United Fund, will assume his duties this Saturday and offices of the fund will be located in the Liberty Trust Company Building.

Milton Dick Heads State Magistrates

J. Milton Dick of this city was installed Saturday as new president of the State Trial Magistrates Association at the group's annual meeting at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin spoke at the annual banquet of the association Saturday night. The group also heard Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the Supreme Court.

County's Polio Patients Get $4,785 In Aid

Dimes March Aided 50 Cases In 1957

A total of $4,785.46 was spent during 1957 directly to aid polio victims in Allegany County, according to the annual financial report of the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

John H. Mosner, treasurer of the local group, reported that the Allegany County Chapter netted $9,947.69 last year from the 1957 March of Dimes.

A like sum sent to the organization's national headquarters represented the county's contribution to the National Foundation's research, professional education, and other programs. Refunds from services provided neighboring chapters amounted to $228.44.

Mr. Mosner pointed out that Allegany County experienced only one new case of polio in 1957 and that the chapter's expenditures on this single case amounted to only $189. For 50 cases stricken before 1957 and still being helped by the group, the amount of $4,785.46 was required.

"These last figures demonstrate most effectively," Mr. Mosner said, "that while incidence of new polio is down drastically as a result of usage of the Salk vaccine, the great battle for the rehabilitation of polio victims is not finished. In 1957, 90 per cent of all March of Dimes patient aid funds were used to aid patients stricken in previous years."

The chapter treasurer also reported that $1,000 represented the chapter's grant to the Allegany County Health Department to help finance the community Salk vaccination program. The Special Polio Evaluation Clinic in August, jointly sponsored by the Foundation, the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society and Allegany County Health Department, cost the March of Dimes $501.90.

Over the past 20 years the March of Dimes has raised more than a quarter billion dollars from the American people. Of this, 61 per cent has been used in direct assistance to polio patients, 35 per cent financed all other aspects of the National Foundation's medical program, and a bare 4 per cent was applied to administrative costs. Mr. Mosner disclosed that it cost $908.08 to administer the program locally last year.

"We do not often realize," said Mr. Mosner, "how substantially organizations such as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis contribute to our local health and welfare program. They go along with little fuss and bother providing a basic public service without which there would be a critical gap in our community."

Trial Planting Is Outlined By SCS Official
